

MyCheck login

How is a Police Check different?

The Working with Children (WWC) Check and a Police Check are different checks.

Under the Working with Children Act 2005 (the Act) if you are doing child-related work and are not exempt, you must have a WWC Check even if you already have a Police Check.

The WWC Check by the Department of Justice & Regulation determines if a person poses an unjustifiable risk to the safety of children. The WWC Check screens a person's criminal records and in some cases their professional conduct. The WWC Check focuses on serious sexual, violent and drug offences. For details, go to List of offences. The department continues to monitor these records for the life of each card.

The Police Check is not an assessment by a government agency. It is only a list of some offences, at a given point in time. Organisations request this list to help them assess a person's suitability for other kinds of work. For example, an organisation might want to know about fraud offences if they were recruiting for a role with access to cash.

	Working with Children Check	Police Check
Does it allow me to work or volunteer with children?	Yes, passing a Check allows you to engage in child- related work for five years while your criminal record continues to be monitored.	No.
How does it work?	The Check is a screening process that examines serious criminal charges, offences, findings of guilt and professional conduct reports related to the safety of children across a person's lifetime.	A Police Check is only a list of the offences that can be disclosed from a person's national criminal records. There is no assessment or investigation made of the offences.
Can I fail?	Yes, you will either pass or fail the Check.	You cannot 'pass' or 'fail' a Police Check; it is simply a list of offences.
What is checked?	National criminal records.	National criminal records.
encekeu.	<ol><li>Professional conduct reports including those of the Victorian Institute of Teaching (VIT) and the Suitability Panel.</li></ol>
What kind of	Offences relevant to the safety of children, such as	All types of offences.

offences are included?	serious sexual, violent or drug crimes.
How far back does each check go?	Across a person's lifetime.	Some offences cannot be disclosed, depending on when they were committed. Go to Victoria Police's Information Release Policy for details.
How long is each check valid for?	Five years unless suspended, revoked or surrendered.	Only current at the time of issue.
valia ior.		Your organisation may require you to undergo subsequent Police Checks.
Is my criminal record monitored?	Yes. Your criminal record continues to be monitored for the life of your card. Victoria Police automatically notifies the department of relevant charges, offences and findings of guilt, which then results in a re-assessment of your eligibility to hold a card.	No. A new Police Check is needed to show any new offences.
What happens when I change organisations?	If you pass, your card is valid for five years unless the department suspends or revokes it. The Check enables you to lawfully do child-related work for any organisation.	Organisations have their own policies regarding Police Checks. You may need a new Police Check when you start a new job.
	However, if you move from voluntary to paid work you must apply for an Employee Check and pay the fee.

Links to Police Checks

Victoria Police

For Victorians who wish to obtain a Police Check for paid or unpaid work, licences or registration.

Australian Federal Police

Police Checks for immigration and visa applications, working overseas, adoption, people seeking to work for the Federal Government and people requiring a Police Check under Commonwealth legislation.

Related Pages

Related Resources

Applicant obligations
Card suspensions
Failing the Check
Individuals' offences

List of offences

Interim Negative Notices
Legislation
Offences & penalties
Organisations' offences
The application process
What is checked

Last reviewed 27/1/2016 © 2016 State Government of Victoria